the fourth volume of the collected papers of the icla congress the many languages of comparative literature includes articles that study thematic and formal elements of literary texts although the question of prioritizing either the level of content or that of form has often provoked controversies most contributions here treat them as internally connected while theoretical considerations inform many of the readings the main interest of most articles can be described as rhetorical in the widest sense given that the ancient discipline of rhetoric did not only include the study of rhetorical figures and tropes such as metaphor irony or satire but also that of topoi which were originally viewed as the places where certain arguments could be found but later came to represent the arguments or intellectual themes themselves another feature shared by most of the articles is the tendency of undeclared thematology which not only reflects the persistence of the charge of positivism but also shows that most scholars prefer to locate themselves within more specific often interdisciplinary fields of literary study in this sense this volume does not only prove the ongoing relevance of traditional fields such as rhetoric and thematology but provides contributions to currently flourishing research areas among them literary multilingualism literature and emotions and ecocriticism peter lampe s work has covered a wide range of fields the common denominator being his interest in contextualizing belief systems mirroring his multifaced work the authors pursue his interest from different interdisciplinary angles addressing the interdependence between religious expressions and their situations or contexts the application of theoretical models to texts examples flanks the inspiring theoretical epistemological and methodological reflections studies in socio economic and political history adjoin archaeological epigraphic papyrological and iconographic investigations social psychological interpretations of texts complement rhetorical analyses the hermeneutical reception of biblical materials in for example the koran and christian chinese or orthodox contexts as well as in religious education and homiletics rounds off the volumes
